A BRIEF ABOUT QATAR

- Qatar is a country in the Middle-East , Southwestern Asia
- It juts out from the east coast of the Arabian Peninsula into the Persian Gulf
- Area of the country is 4,489 sq mi (11,627 sq km)
- Population (2023 est.) of the country stands at 3,210,000
- The Capital of the country is Doha
- Most of the population is Arab, with South Asian and Iranian minorities who are often migrant workers
- The Languages spoken in the country are Arabic (official) and English
- Religions practiced in Qatar are Islam (official; predominantly Sunni), also Christianity and Hinduism
- The official Currency is Qatar rial
- Qatar is mostly stony, sandy, and barren and consists of salt flats, dune desert, and arid plains
- Largely because of petroleum and natural gas exports, its gross national product per capita is one of the highest in the world
- The government owns all of the agricultural land and generates most of the economic activities
- The private sector participates in trade and contracting on a limited scale
- Qatar is a constitutional emirate with one advisory body, and its basis of legislation is Islamic law
- The head of state and government is the emir, assisted by the prime minister
- It was partly controlled by Bahrain from the mid-18th to the mid-19th century and then was nominally part of the Ottoman Empire until World War I (1914–18)
- In 1916 it became a British protectorate
- Oil was discovered in 1939, and Qatar rapidly modernized
- It declared independence in 1971, when the British protectorate ended
- In 1991 Qatar served as a base for air strikes against Iraq in the Persian Gulf War

GEOGRAPHY

- The Qatar peninsula is about 100 miles (160 km) from north to south, 50 miles (80 km) from east to west, and is generally rectangular in shape
- It shares a border with eastern Saudi Arabia, where the peninsula connects to the mainland and is north and west of the United Arab Emirates
- The island country of Bahrain lies some 25 miles (40 km) northwest of Qatar
- Most of Qatar's area is flat, low-lying desert, which rises from the east to a central limestone plateau
- Hills rise to about 130 feet (40 metres) along the western and northern coasts, and Abū al-Bawl Hill (335 feet [103 metres]) is the country's highest point
- Sand dunes and salt flats, or sabkhahs, are the chief topographical features of the southern and southeastern parts

- Qatar has more than 350 miles (560 km) of coastline
- There are no permanent fresh water bodies
- Soils in Qatar are marked by a small degree of organic material and are generally calcareous and agriculturally unproductive
- Soil distribution over bedrock is light and uneven
- The climate is hot and humid from June to September, with daytime temperatures as high as 122 °F (50 °C)
- The spring and fall months are April, May, October, and November, are temperate, averaging about 63 °F (17 °C), and the winters are slightly cooler
- Precipitation is scarce, with less than 3 inches (75 mm) falling annually (generally in winter)
- Vegetation is found only in the north, where the country's irrigated farming areas are located and where desert plants blossom briefly during the spring rains
- Fauna is limited, and the government has implemented a program to protect the Arabian oryx, Qatar's national animal

POLITICAL SCENARIO

- A constitutional emirate with one advisory body, Qatar is ruled by a hereditary emir from the Al Thani
- Members of the ruling family hold almost all the major ministerial posts, which are appointed by the emir
- The emir's power is constrained by the need to maintain the support of important family members, many of whom occupy high governmental posts
- The homogeneity of the ruling family and the country's wealth contribute to Qatar's political stability
- Under a provisional constitution enacted in 1972, the emir ruled in consultation with a Council of Ministers (Majlis al-Wuzarā') and an appointed Advisory Council (Majlis al-Shūrā)
- A new constitution, which was approved by referendum in 2003 and enacted in 2005, provided for the popular election of two-thirds of the members of the Advisory Council
- Qatar's legal system has several sources: the Shari'ah (Islamic law), Ottoman law, and European civil and (to a lesser extent) common law
- In addition to a Higher Judicial Council, there are also several lower courts and a system of appeals courts
- The emir sometimes acts as the final court of appeal
- Formal civil and criminal codes were introduced in the 1970s
- There are no political parties in Qatar
- Qataris have been allowed to vote in municipal elections since 1999, and the first parliamentary election was held in 2021
- Women are allowed to stand for public office

- Qatar has a small defense force of some 12,000 troops, most of whom serve in the army and the country depends on the protection of its neighbours and allies to deter possible external threats
- The country's military expenditure as a percentage of GDP is high( five times the world average), more than almost any other country's

ECONOMY

- Qatar's economic prosperity is derived from the extraction and export of petroleum—discovered in 1939 and first produced in 1949—and natural gas
- Before World War II Qatar's population engaged in pearling, fishing, and some trade (with little exception the only occupations available) and was one of the poorest in the world
- By the 1970s, however, native Qataris enjoyed one of the highest per capita incomes in the world, despite subsequent declines in income due to fluctuations in world oil prices
- Qatar's original oil concession was granted to the Iraq Petroleum Company (IPC), a consortium of European and American firms
- State-owned Qatar Petroleum (formerly Qatar General Petroleum Corporation) oversees oil and gas operations, private corporations continue to play an important role as service companies
- The government has attempted to modernize the fishing and agriculture sectors by offering interest-free loans and yet food production continues to generate only a tiny fraction of gross domestic product (GDP)
- The scarcity of fertile land and water imposes severe limitations on agriculture, and a large proportion of the country's food must be imported
- Use of treated sewage effluent and desalinated water for irrigation, however, has helped to expand the production of fruits such as dates and melons and vegetables such as tomatoes, squash, and eggplant, which Qatar now exports to other Persian Gulf countries
- Production of meat, cereal-grains, and milk also began to increase by the end of the 20th century
- The government maintains a fishing fleet and since the late 1990s has placed greater emphasis on commercial fishing and shrimp harvesting
- Qatar possesses enormous deposits of natural gas, and its offshore North Field is one of the largest gas fields in the world
- The country's petroleum reserves, found both onshore along the western coast at Dukhan and offshore from the eastern coast, are modest by regional standards
- In an attempt to reduce its dependency on oil, Qatar began to develop its natural gas resources in the mid-1990s
- Qatar's strategy has been to develop its natural gas reserves aggressively through joint projects with major international oil and gas companies, focusing on the North Field
- Natural gas surpassed oil as the largest share of the government's revenues and the country's GDP in the first decade of the 21st century

- Qatar has sought to diversify its economy through industrialization
- Most of the manufacturing sector comprises large firms of mixed state and foreign private ownership
- Flour milling and cement production have also been undertaken
- Diversification by expanding manufacturing depends on an abundance of cheap energy for running plants, however, and is thus tied to Qatar's hydrocarbon resources
- Its natural gas reserves have been used to develop a strong liquefied natural gas (LNG) industry
- The Qatar Central Bank (Maşraf Qaţar al-Markazī), founded in 1993, provides banking functions for the state and issues the Qatari rial, the national currency
- In addition to domestic banks, including commercial, development, and Islamic banks (institutions bound by strict religious rules governing transactions), licensed foreign banks are also authorized to operate
- Qatar has been generous in its foreign aid disbursements, particularly to other Arab and Islamic countries
- The Doha Stock Exchange began operations in 1997
- Machinery and transport equipment, manufactured goods, and food and live animals are Qatar's major imports
- LNG, crude petroleum, and refined petroleum account for the bulk of the value of exports
- Top import sources for Qatar include the United States, China, Germany, Japan, and the United Arab Emirates
- South Korea, Japan, China, and India are among Qatar's most important export destinations
- Japan and South Korea receive the largest proportion of Qatar's exports, largely in the form of petroleum and petroleum products
- In an attempt to further diversify Qatar's economy, the government has sought to develop tourism, in particular by promoting the country as a site for international conferences, however, tourism remains a relatively small component of the economy

- It is operated and managed by Mowani Qatar and supervised by the Ministry of Transport and Communications
- The port mainly handles general cargo, and specific imports of livestock, vehicles, grains and cereals
- The construction and activities carried on in the port is aimed at economic diversification, increasing competitiveness and international trade, while attracting foreign investors
- The port spans around 29 km and has an annual handling capacity of 7.5 million TEU, 1.8 million general cargo, and a million tonne of grains
- Hamad port has three container handling facilities that can collectively handle more than 7 million TEU annually
- The terminals have the latest port equipment such as ship-to-shore cranes and high-tech gantry cranes, the latest container scanning technology etc. for efficient cargo handling with reduced processing time
- The General cargo handling facility has ample storage space in the form of sheds, paved and sheltered storage and cold storage facilities and can handle around 1.6 million tones, dealing with all kinds of non-containerised cargo such as machinery, steel and its products, dry bulk, construction equipment, fertilizers and petroleum goods
- The Multipurpose Terminal is divided into smaller units or facilities to handle specific goods such as grains, livestock and automobiles
- The grain handling facility has automatic loading and unloading conveyor belts that discharge grain directly into silos
- The automobile terminal deals with shipments of more than 450,000 vehicles every year
- The livestock terminal comprises multiple automatic gates that separate the different kinds of livestock
- The port has world-class security systems including a Port Tower measuring 110 m and a customs inspections area that clears more than 5500 containers in 24 hours
- A ship repair and inspection facility and numerous maritime services are also offered at Hamad port
- The port has been operational since 5 years, bringing forth huge possibilities of growth by enhancing trade between Qatar and other nations

2. RAS LAFFAN PORT

- Ras Laffan port is situated on the northeast coast of Qatar and is the world's biggest LNG exporting facility

- It is a deepwater port, possessing the world's biggest artificial harbour and is strategically located amidst the Arabian Gulf, the Far East and Europe on the international maritime trade route hence transporting hydrocarbon goods to almost all major parts of the world
- The port was built mainly for the natural gas industries which manufacture gas products and their derivatives
- The port covers 850 hectares and is surrounded by two breakwaters, two entrance channels and is dredged to a depth of 14.5 m
- Ras Laffan port deals with LPG, petroleum products, sulphur, etc, handling more than 1000 ships and 10,000,000 tonnes of cargo annually
- The port is owned and operated by Qatar Petroleum
- It has several berths for commercial and industrial uses and is also equipped with the latest equipments such as cranes with a lifting capacity of 150 tons, a sulfur loader that can handle one thousand tons per hour, numerous forklifts, and trailers
- Ras Laffan Port has 6 facilities for handling LNG, that can accommodate the biggest LNG Carriers, carrying more than 200,000 cubic m
- Six facilities are operational for dealing with liquid bulk cargo such as Liquefied petroleum gas and refinery goods which can accommodate vessels measuring 165 to 345 m
- One dock in the port area is dedicated to handling only sulphur, with the capacity of handling ships weighing more than 100,000 tonnes DWT
- The port incorporates four berths dedicated to dry cargo, each 300 m long with a capacity to handle ships weighing more than 60,000 DWT
- It also has three offshore single mooring points, just 55 km from main port area, capable of handling ships weighing between 90,000 to 325,000 DWT
- The modern shipyard spans 110 hectares and has established Ras Laffan port among the world's most renowned ship repair, maintenance and construction facilities
- It comprises two huge and expansive wharves, a big enclosed manufacturing unit, fitting space, numerous warehouses and administration offices

3. AL-RUWAIS PORT

- Port of Al-Ruwais is the second most important commercial port of Qatar which is situated on its northern end
- The port facility plays a vital role in increasing and diversifying the regional cargo shipments and has revitalised the economy of northern Qatar by substantially improving and increasing the volume of maritime trade
- Apart from conventional cargoes, Al-Ruwais port also meets the growing demand for foodstuff, canned food, meat and other commodities by working as an efficient and quick maritime gateway for the delivery of fresh and refrigerated food from neighbouring nations
- Operated by Mubani Qatar, this port has witnessed substantial infrastructural development to meet global port standards and increase port productivity

- Presently, the port comprises 6 marine berths with a total length of 1414 m to accommodate commercial cargo ships
- Another interesting facility at the Al-Ruwaisport is its unique market, where different world-traditions meet, known as the Al-Mina market, which spans 3200 sq m and includes shops selling canned foods, dried dates, sweets, exotic spices, nuts, juices etc. Furniture and decorative items like artefacts and paintings made by local artists are also sold
- The market is built in the port vicinity where traders around the world can sell products from their countries
- The market has made this port an attractive tourist spot
- Handling more than 240 vessels every month, Al-Ruwais port has become a busy port with great economic significance for Qatar

4. PORT OF MESAIEED/ UMM SAID

- Mesaieed Port, also known as Umm Said port lies on the eastern coast of Qatar, the nation's industrial region, just 45 km south of Doha
- The port handles about 2,800 vessels, 48,000,000 tonnes of cargo and 59,000TEU annually
- The port deals with diverse goods, including exports like crude oil, refined products, LPG, naphtha, petrochemicals, ethylene, ammonia, methanol, polythene pellets, urea, steel, sulphur, bulk and conventional cargo
- Import goods handled at the port comprise iron ore pellets, salt, cement, clinker, project cargo etc
- The port has 29 operational berths for handling specific cargoes
- It can accommodate ships weighing more than 90,000 DWT and a maximum beam of 60 m
- Three Qasco berths measuring more than 350 m each, handle iron ore, manganese, scrap metals, minerals and chemicals
- Refined products berth handles rubber and cylindrical fenders
- The port has 4 commercial berths and also two offshore berths, one handling petroleum and the other crude oil and naphtha

5. AL RAYYAN MARINE OIL TERMINAL PORT

- Al-Rayyan Marine Terminal lies in the southern portion of the Persian Gulf, just 35 nautical miles from the northern coastline of Qatar
- The terminal comprises a 124,472 DWT or a VLCC size storage tanker, named Falcon Spirit, an FSO moored to a single point mooring
- Many export tankers berth near the storage tanker which receives crude oil via a pipeline connected to a major production unit situated near the terminal
- Tankers with a maximum size of 320,000 DWT can enter the terminal area while the maximum vessel draught is not more than 21 m

6. AL-SHAHEEN OIL TERMINAL

- The facility is situated near the Shaheen oil field, located off the northeast coastline of Qatar
- It is the nation's largest offshore oil field and one of the largest in the world producing 100 million barrels of oil every year and accounting for 45% of Qatar's oil production
- It has 33 platforms and more than 300 wells
- The terminal facility is operated by the North Oil Company and comprises two FSOs – FSO Africa and Asia, moored to SPMs which transfer crude oil to export tankers

7. PORT OF HALUL ISLAND

- Halul Island is part of Qatar and is situated just 52 nautical miles from Doha
- The port facility of this island serves as an export terminal for Qatar Marine Crude oil which is obtained from the northern oil fields like Idd El-Shargi
- Operated by Qatar Petroleum, the facility's export operations are conducted through 2 SBM's
- The island is circular, with extensive reef formations and hilly with some oil storage tanks clustered in one part of the island along with an industrial complex and houses of workers
